

MANOR
Country Club

Come Experience the Manor Lifestyle.

Manor Country Club is more than the area's premier private escape...it's a lifestyle. A place where outstanding golf and unique club activities co-exist on an unequalled wooded preserve. A place where impeccable service and fine dining always exceed expectations. Manor Country Club, with 27 holes of golf, 10 tennis courts, and two swimming pools is an oasis where friendships develop. Its members celebrate an enduring tradition since 1922.

Renovated by Arthur Hills, this William Flynn design championship golf course offers five sets of tees rated for both men and women. The multiple tees provide for a challenging but enjoyable fair test of golf for every skill level. The keystone of the golf course is the bent grass greens. The quickness and trueness of the greens make every putt holeable. Ranked as one of the Top 10 renovated private courses in 2006 by Golf Magazine, the Championship Course will play host to the US Open Women's qualifier in June 2008.

History

In 1922, a group of foresighted men, among them E. Brooke Lee, T. Howard Duckett, and Charles Zeller, dreamed of providing professionals, businessmen, and their families relief from the heat and pressures of the city. The respite was The Manor, a beautiful century-old stone house surrounded by 431 acres of wooded land and just 14 miles from the White House. Rolling hills 500 feet high overlooked Rock Creek Valley to the south, the main valley of Montgomery County to the west and north, Sugar Loaf Mountain and the Blue Ridge to the west.

In the early days of Manor Country Club, the clubhouse operated as an inn; the four-story building housed employees on the fourth floor, and weekend guests (members) on the third, according to Bill Jones, President of the Board during the war years.

Manor Country Club still retains much of the beauty of the rolling hills, water, foliage, and trees. Our club rooms, dining rooms, golf, tennis and swim programs are managed by professionals. Now surrounded by homes, business, and highways, it still provides a retreat in a tract of natural beauty.
